

Health-tech-bolag tar in 25MSEK för att förbättra digitalt samarbete inom specialistsjukvården

Collective Minds Radiology tar in 25 MSEK från Brightly Ventures och Skincity-grundarna Mikael och Annica Forsgren Kjellman. Existerande ägare som Antaros Invest, Crista Galli Ventures och affärsänglar deltar också i rundan som övertecknades. Collective Minds utvecklar en molnbaserad samarbetstjänst för sjukvården med fokus på radiologi. Pengarna ska användas till fortsatt europeisk expansion och förberedelse för global introduktion.

Collective Minds utvecklar en molnbaserad plattform där läkare, forskare och industri kan samarbeta över landsgränser för att hjälpa patienter till rätt diagnos, samt utveckla sjukvården med förbättrade kliniska studier och digital interaktiv utbildning. I nuläget är 50 sjukhus och över 2000 läkare anslutna till tjänsten. Collective Minds har sin bas med kommersiell och klinisk ledning i Stockholm och produktutveckling baserad i Barcelona.

Den pågående pandemin har det gångna året belyst behovet av samarbete och erfarenhetsutbyte mellan sjukhus och specialister, vilket drivit intresset för Collective Minds nyskapande teknik.

“Under 2020 har vi sett en mycket kraftig tillväxt av läkare och vårdgivare som använder våra tjänster. Vi har knutit till oss såväl privata aktörer som större universitetssjukhus i flera europeiska länder. Vi är stolta och glada över det förtroende vi fått från Brightly och övriga investerare. Vi tar nu nästa steg mot vårt mål att skapa en tjänst där global medicinsk expertis och erfarenhet är samlad.”

- Anders Nordell, VD och medgrundare, Collective Minds Radiology.

Pengarna från investeringen ska gå till fortsatt teknikutveckling, utökning av teamet samt expansion i Europa och förberedelser för en global lansering.

*“Radiologer världen över har ett mycket stort behov av att samarbeta vilket kräver en bra digital plattform. Vården har bara börjat sin digitalisering och grundarna av Collective Minds har den erfarenhet och kompetens som krävs för att digitalisera och fundamentalt förändra denna bransch. Vi är mycket glada över att kunna stötta bolaget i dess spännande resa att revolutionera arbetssätten kring medicinsk bildanalys” säger John Elvesjö, Managing Partner på Brightly Ventures

Health-tech company raises SEK 25 million to improve digital collaboration within specialist healthcare

Collective Minds Radiology raises 2,5MEURO from Brightly Ventures and Skincity founders Mikael and Annica Forsgren Kjellman. Existing owners such as Antaros Invest, Crista Galli Ventures, and business angels are also participating in the oversubscribed round. Collective Minds is developing a cloud-based healthcare collaboration service focusing on medical imaging. The funding will be used for continued European expansion and preparation for a global introduction.

Collective Minds is developing a cloud-based platform where doctors, researchers and industry can collaborate across national borders to help patients to the right diagnosis, as well as develop healthcare with improved clinical studies and digital interactive education. Today, 50 hospitals and more than 2,000 doctors are connected to the service. Collective Minds has its commercial and clinical management in Stockholm and product development based in Barcelona.

The ongoing pandemic in the past year has highlighted the need for collaboration and exchange of experiences between hospitals and specialists, which has driven interest in Collective Mind's innovative technology.

“During the past year, we have seen very strong growth of doctors and care providers who use our services. We have partnered with both private companies and larger university hospitals in several European countries. We are proud and happy about the trust we have received from Brightly and other investors. We are now taking the next steps towards our goal of creating a global service where medical expertise and experience are gathered ”

- Anders Nordell, CEO, and co-founder, Collective Minds Radiology.

The funding will be used for continued technology development, expansion of the team, expansion in Europe, and preparations for a global launch.

*“Radiologists around the world have a great need to collaborate, which requires a good digital platform. Digitalization within healthcare has just begun and the founders of Collective Minds have the experience and skills required to digitize and fundamentally change this industry. We are very pleased to be able to support the company in its exciting journey to revolutionize the medical imaging workflow”, says John Elvesjö, Managing Partner at Brightly Ventures
